

Presentation Proposal for College Students to Adults

Presentation Topic: About pursuing dreams, humanity, and meaning of life.

Presentation Description

- Duration: 40-55 minutes with another 20-30 minutes for Q&A.
- Target Audience: undergraduate or graduate students or adults above the age of 17.

A multimedia presentation about my experiences as a Tibeto-Nepalese growing up in a Hindu Kingdom attending a Jesuit school in Nepal, continuing with education in vastly differing countries, and topping that off with an international teaching experience around the world.

During all that time, while I suffered both in Nepal and abroad from discrimination, because of the context and circumstances of my birth, I discovered compassion and humanity in abundance. Had it not been for humanity, I would have been in a completely different place right now—possibly serving a seven-year jail sentence in Qatar! Humanity will ultimately save humanity itself.

Presentation Objectives

- To inspire people to believe in and trust humanity
- To inspire people to believe that they can contribute to understanding between people of different nationalities, cultures and religions and thereby contribute to peace in the world
- To inspire people to live meaningful lives

Information about presenter

Name: Dorje Gurung, ScD (h.c.)

Education Program Director

COMMITTED-Nepal, Kathmandu, Nepal

Education:

BA, Grinnell College, Grinnell, IA, USA (1994)

Dip. Ed., University of New South Wales, Sydney, Australia (2000)

I was educated in five countries and had a long international teaching career before I recently began a brand new career in social work.

After graduating from a Jesuit school in Nepal, I received an international high school diploma from United World College of the Adriatic in Italy, then a bachelor's degree from a private liberal arts college in the US, and finally a teaching degree from UNSW in Australia.

My international teaching career, lasting over 15 years, spanned international schools in ten different countries, four of which were United World Colleges. During my stay abroad, I travelled to about three-dozen different countries.

There are currently 14 United World Colleges around the world. The goals of the United World College movement is to bring children between 16-18 years of age to build bridges of understanding—what was referred to as International Understanding—and contribute to peace in the world.
